

Archaeology Club

We deliver a six session club to primary schools introducing children to archaeology and what it can tell us about life in the past.

Activities include finds washing, a local history I-spy walk, drawing artefacts and even a chance to unearth real objects in our dig pit.

The club runs after school and is suitable for up to 20 children at Key Stage 1 and 2. The programme is flexible and can be tailored to fit in with existing after school provision.

We can help bring Lincolnshire's rich history to life for your pupils.

Schools' Learning Programme

From school visits to teaching resources we provide opportunities for everyone to learn about Lincolnshire's history and archaeology.

HERITAGE LINCOLNSHIRE

celebrating 25 years

Visits to Schools

Our expert staff are available to visit schools and colleges throughout Lincolnshire and can provide sessions linked to the National Curriculum on any aspect of the county's heritage.

We're here to help whether your studying Stone Age to Iron Age, Viking, medieval or Roman Lincolnshire. Visits can also focus on the heritage of a particular town or village to help kick off a local history study.

Object-based learning features in all our school sessions, and we have a large handling collection of real and replica artefacts from a range of periods.

For half day visits we ask for a donation of £150, or £250 for a full day.

Teaching Resources

We have produced a range of free teaching resources to support teachers with the history National Curriculum at Key Stage 1, 2, & 3.

These provide information and activity ideas to help students understand how local Lincolnshire places fit into wider national and world histories.

“The children loved the visit today and really engaged with the topic. I now have a class of budding archaeologists!” Class Teacher

Help with Local History Studies

We maintain an archive with historical information on every parish in Lincolnshire as well as an extensive local history library, map series, and a large handling collection of artefacts, all of which we can make available to schools.

We're passionate about Lincolnshire's history and our expert staff are available to visit schools to support local history studies. We can provide training for pupils in researching sources, how to read historic buildings, and run practical activities like graveyard surveys, artefact studies, or visits to our sites.

Visits to our Historic Sites

We care for six historic sites, including Bolingbroke Castle, Topholme Abbey and even a Cold War bunker! Each has great potential for learning outside the classroom. Our staff can help you plan your trip with resources and risk assessments, as well as assisting you on the day if necessary.

Books

Whether you're studying the Romans, the industrial revolution, or WWII we've written a series of accessible local history books, great for teachers and packed with sources for students to study. Just check out our online bookshop.

Work Experience

We provide work experience placements for young people in local schools and colleges who are interested in a career in heritage. Every placement is different and students can expect to get a taste of various aspects of our work, from managing historic sites, field archaeology, events management, ICT and marketing or social media.
